

NASE COURSE ONLINE

JAPAN, WAKAYAMA

Conclusions

Remote course of NASE with university students who will be elementary school teachers. The NASE course is mainly programmed for secondary school education, but the contents are also very useful to the students who are related to primary education. Since we focused on the workshops 1 to 4 which are closely related to the primary education, they were all satisfactory about the contents.

As well as the course itself, we had a reflection meeting over zoom. The students had many questions and they exchanged their explanations each other. One of the good characteristics of the NASE course is collaborative atmosphere during the workshop. Though we could not prepare the real workshop, just showed the virtual one, but the remote meeting helped make the collaborative environment. The course raised the students' skills of questioning and collaboration.
